Overview: La Corniche, a new project in Fuengirola, consisting of 36 apartments with 2, 3 and 4 bedrooms. The properties feature generous terraces with excellent views of the Costa del Sol. Each apartment will also include 2 parking spaces and a storage room. The open plan living/dining room offers plenty of light and comfort in a light and airy open space. The common areas of the development include a swimming pool for adults and another for children, surrounded by well-kept gardens. There is also a gym and a social center for gatherings and socializing. In this project we are committed to renewable energies by installing a solar energy collection system for the production of domestic hot water. Located in Fuengirola, a coastal town in the province of Malaga with one of the best infrastructures and variety of services on the Costa del Sol. The beautiful promenade connects its beaches with some of its imposing points of interest, among which the castle of Sohail. Fuengirola combines the most deeply rooted traditions of the area with innovation and modernity. Its privileged geographical location, between the sea and the mountains, and its excellent connection with Malaga, place it among the most attractive destinations in the province. La Corniche was born simulating a lookout boat with impressive views of the Mediterranean, integrating itself into the orography, mimicking the use of native materials, wood and water as an element always present in the living areas and noble materials that extol the architecture. The Corniche is committed to renewable energies with the general installation of solar energy collection for the production of domestic hot water, as well as the pre-installation for recharging electric vehicles.
